Greetings Perry Hall HS Families,

We are excited to welcome students and staff back to school for the 2023-2024 school year! Staff have been planning and working throughout the summer and are focused on engaging students in classroom communities and equipping students with literacy skills necessary to support a claim. Staff are also committed to creating opportunities for students to engage socially and be involved in extracurricular activities. While safety and academics are our top priorities, students’ social engagement and involvement are also critical to their academic success.

This letter and the enclosed information is intended to provide details and information to help students and parents fully participate in the PHHS community and prepare for a successful school year. To be fully prepared for school on August 28th, students and parents should complete the following:

STUDENTS -
1. Complete Summer Reading: Reading is fundamental to students’ success, and we expect students to read this summer. All students enrolled in Standard, Honors, and GT English Courses are expected to:
   - Select and read at least one fiction title – OR – one nonfiction title from the assigned list.
   - Complete a Bookakucha (directions and video link: Bookakucha Directions) by September 14th.
     - Some titles are marked as GT; all students may choose from these titles. Students enrolled in GT must select from the GT labeled titles.
     - Parents: Please talk to your students about their book selections. Some may have controversial subject matter. If you are uncomfortable, steer your child toward another choice.
     - Visit our website perryhallhs.bcps.org for more information and grade-level book lists.
   - Students enrolled in AP English have different assignments. Visit the website for more information.

2. Check Your Course Schedule on August 11
   - Log into Focus. Log in to baltimore.focusschoolsoftware.com/focus/ and click the "Sign in with my BCPS account" button. The username must be followed by @bcps.org when logging in. Choose "Student Portal" to view your schedule.
   - Check your schedule for appropriate courses. Changes will only be made for one of the following reasons:
     1. Scheduled in a class you have already passed
     2. Open period in your schedule
     3. Early Release Form submitted – seniors only
   - Schedule change requests MUST be submitted using the Schedule Change Request Form. The form can be accessed by holding your smartphone’s camera over the QR code and is also available on the PHHS website. Please DO NOT email your counselor; Counselors will prioritize changes using only this form.
   - Schedules will not be changed once school begins.

PARENTS –
1. Update contact information: If you did not receive this letter by email, you are not connected. Email and telephone are our most efficient and important means of communication. Update your contact information in FOCUS, starting Aug 28.

2. Monitor student progress using Schoology and Focus SIS. Parents can access or create an account on https://www.bcps.org/students__parents/log_into_focus__schoology. We encourage parents and students to access this information regularly and maintain open lines of communication with teachers.
   - Schoology – Hosts course content, assignments, and live grades.
   - Focus SIS – provides access to course schedules, attendance, and grade reports.

3. Mark your calendars:

- August 24 – Back to School Night – 5:00-7:00 PM - General Meeting at 5:00 PM in the Auditorium followed by open-house to locate classrooms and meet teachers. Please have your child’s schedule available.

For more information and resources to support your teen’s appropriate use of cell phones, see the enclosed information.

WHAT CAN PARENTS DO?

- Limit screentime for children and teens, especially during school and study hours. See the resources listed on the next page for more information regarding parental controls for both Apple and Android operating systems.
- Monitor your child’s activity on smartphones and social media. Check out the resources on the next page for more information and ways to talk to your child about healthy social media use.
- Engage teenagers in off-screen activities that foster interests and friendships: athletics, religious youth groups, extra-curricular activities. Check out sports, clubs, and activities offered at OMHS.
- Read off-screen every day. Reading ANY text, including magazines, manga, comics, and graphic novels is worth the time and will yield improved SAT and MCAP achievement scores.
- Take tech breaks. Designate entire days or portions of a day in which all technology is off limits. Try it for the entire family – you’ll all be happier!
- Exercise. Encourage teens to take a walk, go for a jog, or lift weights to activate the brain and refuel the body.
- Take smartphones away altogether. If teens are having difficulty navigating social media appropriately or demonstrating addictive habits related to smartphone activity, consider taking possession of the phone until your teen can agree to limits and boundaries; gradually re-introduce the phone and/or social media with limits.

According to the Monitoring the Future survey by the National Institute on Drug Abuse:

- Teens who spend 10 or more hours a week on social media are 56% more likely to say they’re unhappy.
- Teens who spend 6–9 hours on social media are 47% more likely to say they are unhappy.
- Those who spend an above-average amount of time with their friends in person are 20% less likely to say they’re unhappy than those who hang out for a below-average amount of time.
- Teens who are heavy users of social media increase their risk of depression by 27%.
- Teens who play sports, go to religious services, or do more homework than the average teen significantly cut their risk of depression.

All percentages are higher for girls than boys.

Parental Controls: There’s an App For That

Parents can track their child’s cell phone, app, and social media usage. Apple and Android have settings that you can use for free. Included below are 3 highly rated premium apps which require a monthly fee. OMHS does not endorse any of these apps; rather offer potential ways to assist parents in partnering to reduce excessive cell phone use which can be detrimental to your child’s mental health and academic performance.

Click each icon below for more information (PDF only).

- Apple has an entire suite of tools for parents to use on iPhones and iPads. You can set it so your child has to ask you to download certain apps, set content/privacy restrictions, set a screen time passcode for screen time management, and more. All of these are free in your iPhone settings app.

- Android also has several options in the settings app that include setting screen time limits, managing if your child can download certain apps, and more. All these options are free on your Android phone. This page also has options for your Alexa and other Google products as well.

- This is an app that has a premium service linked to it where you can pay a monthly fee for more complex monitoring. It includes a dashboard and scheduling feature, as well as monitoring of your child's social media activities.

- This is another app that charges a monthly fee but is highly rated. It will filter out websites, blocks inappropriate content, monitors calls and messages, as well as all web activity.

- Another highly rated premium monthly fee app for parents. This app contains notifications about potential cyberbullying or mental health issues via its premium suite of tools.

Dear Parent or Guardian:

On the reverse side of this letter is a form that provides the school nurse with updated health information on your child, a list of persons to be contacted in the case of an illness or injury and a section to indicate your consent for the administration of certain nonprescription medications which are available, at no charge, for all students. This form must be filled out each school year.

The nonprescription medication program (called Discretionary Medications) is designed to alleviate minor discomforts and to prevent unnecessary early dismissals from school. These medications are approved by the Chief of School and Adolescent Health, Baltimore County Department of Health, and the Director, Office of Health Services, Baltimore County Public Schools.

Your consent must be obtained before any medication is given to your child. Only the School Nurse may administer these medications in accordance with established protocols. The consent form lists the medications which may be available. Please complete the consent form and return it to the school nurse.

Approved discretionary medications are intended for occasional use only. If your child requires any prescription or nonprescription medication on a regular basis, you must obtain a written order from your health care provider and supply the medications.

If you have any questions or would like further information, please contact your school nurse.

Sincerely,

Deborah Somerville, RN, MPH
